What Makes This Strong

This format works because it forces the report to answer the four executive questions fast:

1. What’s going on? → Status, health, insights
2. What’s at risk? → Risks, support, relationship gaps

3. Where can we grow? → Expansion potential, deal context, opportunities
4. What should happen next? → Owner-based actions with priority

The important shift: don't summarize CRM activity; synthesize it.

Executives do not care that “3 meetings happened.” They care that:

- sponsor coverage is weak,
 - usage supports expansion,
 - support friction threatens renewal,
 - one relationship is carrying too much account value.

Recommended Inference Rules

Use these when turning raw CRM data into intelligence:

- Status = Strategic when ARR is high, relationships are multi-threaded, and growth path exists.
 - Status = Growth when renewal is stable and usage/support indicate expansion headroom.
 - Status = At Risk when renewal is near, sponsor coverage is weak, sentiment is slipping, or escalations are unresolved.
 - Status = Stable when revenue is secure but momentum is limited.
 - Health = High when usage is healthy, support is calm, and stakeholder sentiment is positive.
 - Health = Medium when one dimension is soft but manageable.
 - Health = Low when two or more dimensions are deteriorating.

Best-Practice Writing Rules

- Use one insight per bullet.
 - Keep each bullet under 18 words.
 - Make risks specific, observable, and commercial.
 - Tie opportunities to named teams, use cases, or products.
 - Actions should always have owner + move + priority.

Client Account Snapshot

Account Status

- Status: Growth
- Health Score: Medium — Strong product usage, but executive sponsorship is weak ahead of renewal.
- ARR: $180,000 | MRR: $15,000 | Renewal: Sept 30, 2026

Executive Insights

- Adoption is strong in Operations, but Finance has not engaged, limiting expansion scope.
- Renewal looks likely, but the account is overly dependent on one mid-level champion.
- Support volume is low overall, though two unresolved workflow issues may affect sentiment.
- Recent meeting activity suggests interest in broader rollout if executive alignment improves.

Key Relationships

Name	Role	Type	Strength
Maya Chen	Director of Operations	Champion	Strong
Luis Romero	VP Operations	Decision-maker	Medium
Ana Patel	Finance Lead	Blocker	Weak

- Gaps: No strong executive sponsor outside Operations; Finance relationship is underdeveloped.

Deals & Pipeline Snapshot

- Active Deals: $70,000 total | Top Deal: Expansion to Finance team, proposal stage, slowed by ROI concerns
- Expansion Potential: $120,000
- Notable Past Deals:
 - Won: Initial Ops deployment through process-efficiency use case
 - Lost: HR rollout due to unclear ownership and low urgency

Engagement & Health Signals

- Usage: Medium-High — Core team adoption is steady, but no growth in new seats
- Support: Stable — Low ticket volume, two open workflow issues

- Sentiment: Neutral-Positive — Champion is engaged; broader stakeholder enthusiasm is mixed
- Engagement Pattern: High responsiveness from users, limited executive engagement

Key Risks

- Renewal risk increases if executive sponsorship is not strengthened in the next quarter
- Expansion may stall due to Finance skepticism around ROI
- Account is single-threaded around one champion

Growth Opportunities

- Build Finance-specific ROI case to unblock expansion
- Convert Ops success into executive-level business case
- Expand into adjacent teams using existing workflow adoption proof

Recommended Actions (Next 30–60 Days)

- Sales → Build ROI case for Finance expansion → High
- CSM → Secure VP-level business review with champion support → High
- Support/Product → Resolve two workflow issues before renewal planning → Medium
- Exec Sponsor → Engage senior stakeholder on cross-functional value → Medium
